

SLBC Carnival 40 million

No hip pop launching; Ionta.

Ha, ha, ha, the greatest Creature that ever lived on earth Busy Bee heard it all. You people collected forty million Leones from gate takings, is that so? The money is not the concern of the Creature but the manner in which you want to dispense it is the problem.

Bee has been told that the ring leaders of the carnival do not want to declare the cash to the entire membership. In fact, you have started sharing the left over drinks among your allies. Don't try to dupe your fellow colleagues; that money belongs to you all.

Bee was also told that there are two people put in charge of the carnival; the Creature will not name them now but will sure do if they fail to do the right thing. Ok; is it also true that five crates of beer were given to big boss no, no, no the Creature does not want to believe this.

As you know, the tiny Creature is also an investigator; it went further to ask as to how you people dispensed of the remaining drinks, but this the Creature will not go into for now. Many eyes are watching you as to what you are going to do with that money.

Don't allow the devil to take over and spoil what you built on because the rigid Creature will not hesitate to expose you. If you know what is good for you, declare all that you collected and share the remaining drinks peacefully and correctly. No body needs to tell you what to do, you are the people that write about others, you are the ones that talk about corruption don't you think what you are venturing into may be a corrupt practice? Don't try it, because you will be exposed. A word for the wise is quite sufficient, you have been warned; Ionta.

Kosovo's envoy extends thanks and appreciation to Sierra Leoneans ...for recognizing their independence

BY ISHMAEL KINDAMA DUMBUYA

Mr. James Berisha an airline pilot and instructor from Kosovo republic will leave the shores of Sierra Leone today Monday 20th December 2010 for Liberia after seeing officials of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Corporation.

The purpose of Mr. James visit to the Foreign Affairs Ministry of Sierra Leone was to extend thanks and appreciation to the People and Government of Sierra Leone for recognizing their independence from the republic of Yugoslavia almost 3 years ago.

The Republic of Kosova declared independence on February 17th 2008. A statement from the website reads 'We are honored and humbled that it is our generation that lives to see this day, and we are aware and ready to take up the path that begins from here. Our future is with Europe. Thank you from the bottom of our hearts, for standing by us in the worst of times.'

About 72 out of the 192 United Nations (UN) member countries have formally/Informally recognized the independence of Kosovo. Sierra Leone is a member of these countries and recognized the independence of Kosovo on the 13th June 2008. Twenty two (22) European Union (EU) Member States had also recognized their independence.

Mr. James Berisha, who came by himself with a 4 seat Cessna aircraft with single engine while granting an interview at the Standard Times office on Saturday, said it is now two years he has engaged on flying around the world to countries who had recognized their independence by extending thanks and appreciations to the People and Governments of those countries. On this mission, Mr. James has been to North America, Central and South America doing the same game of lobbying and thanking the governments and people of those respective countries.

As a Kosovo notional who sees independence as an important milestone, Mr. James is performing the journeys and services for his country under a voluntary service with no form of payment at the end of the day. On why he is doing a voluntary job, he said 'it is very important for having independence in the planet and any citizen will like to see his country independent. He said 'Kosovo appreciate counties like Sierra Leone and it means a lot to us for recognizing our independence'. Just as he is doing a national service for his country, Mr. James is being assisted with the Public Relations work through the Internet by 20 other students of Kosovo. Mr. James Berisha's journey is being funded by the People of Kosovo through minimal donations and contributions.

The UN needs 2/3rds of the total countries on earth before they can recognize them as a state and before Kosovo can apply for membership into the United Nations and have a seat. In Africa ten (10) countries have recognized the independence of Kosovo such as Djibouti, Somalia, Malawi, Mauritania, Swaziland Senegal, Gambia, Sierra Leone, Liberia, and Burkina Faso

Kosovo declared independence on the 17th of February 2008. The small south east European state sits between Albania, Macedonia, Serbia and Montenegro. The capital of the Republic is Prishtina, a city of around 500,000 people. The population of Kosovo exceeds 2 million.

Kosovo is a state that is moving towards European integration, and will eventually become a member of the European Union. Kosovo has historically, culturally and socially been part of Europe. The ancient kingdoms that stood there were at the centre of European history well over 3,000 years ago. Later on, as new world powers emerged and the world changed, again the nations of south east Europe forged the future of this continent.

In more modern times, Kosovo ended up as the least developed part of Yugoslavia, slowly moving towards high unemployment and unequal opportunities for Kosovar Albanians. This, coupled with nationalistic policies that broke up Yugoslavia, culminated in the Kosovo - Serbia war of 1997-1999.

Today, having declared independence, Kosovo has chosen the path towards Europe. Independence, and the explicit and implicit recognition by the world, has helped set Kosovo on the right course.
